

Mello Rob, ← You are a DICK.
surprise to you, I know,
but not anyone else. 06/15/2009
Started 1:13 a.m.

You disgust me. I think you always have. When I first met you I felt 'worry' of you. I should have taken that as a signal, and I WILL in the future. That feeling means I am dealing with a jerk - like you!

At first things weren't as bad, but always wierd. I work in home offices very often, & you are the least hospitable person I have ever met! No, joke. And I have met your mother ... what is your excuse? Do you know that your mother & nannie talk about you when you are not there? Do you know that you embarass your own mother? that she is apalled by the way you act ... even your nannie. I hate the way you treat people, & so do they.

You should be ashamed of yourself! All of my clients set up very nice areas for me to work in thier home. Every single one greets me when I get to thier office, ask if I'd like a drink. They also make sure I'm comfortable & that I have (1) everything I need for that day's work. Every single client I have do ALL of these things almost everyDAY I work for them. You did NONE, FUCKING not ONE, of these things ever. Fuking EVER in the over 6 months that I worked for you.

At one of my clients I even use his fridge & have lunch with him. What do you think of that? Oh right, you don't mix with the help. Only yell at them, bark orders and point out errors.

You know another thing that made your mother laugh at you? The laughable excuse of a working area that I worked at in your HUBS home office, for at least 7 hours a week, I constantly (weekly) told you I had a back problem and needed a more suitable work area & chair. I told you I was in lasting pain & daily discomfort because of the chair I was sitting in. And why didn't you get me a chair? Because you didn't know where (in your space 2 story 9 ~~bed~~ room, 5 bathroom mansion) you would store it when I wasn't there. Like you pointed out "I obviously care (2) how the place looks." How could you ignore a person in pain for vanity? You stupid fucking bastard. I pity your soul, your family & friends, & your pathetic shallow life. I also feel sorry for whatever it is you are compensating for.

There are healthier ways to deal. Believe me, I know.

I am not a commodity, & I don't appreciate being treated like one. You worked at your huge 6'x5' desk while you had me work in your leather office chair on a child's wooden ^{curved} backed chair & a 2x2 foot pullout ~~in~~ front your desk. I also had to supply my own computer. How do you possibly justify this?

I know from paying your bills & how you scheme that you are a cheap bastard. NOT frugal, as you claim. But cheap & manipulative. Selfish. You even stiffed my best friend!

You then turned around & paid geek squad for the same job ($244 instead of the $50 you DIDNT pay my friend) & guess what!? 3

They came to the same conclusions & solutions.
Why, you just like to PROVE what a douche
you are.

My pointers to you:

- You are a ROYAL pain.
- I liked the work, but not working for you.
- Only SCUM treat others like scum all
- ^{of the time} hope you don't abuse your children. if you do
- You should take an anger management class
- Your quest ~~for~~ to maintain a 'perfect exterior'
as in your home, wife, physic, job, etc ~~that~~ ~~is~~ suggests to me an underlying issue

you are

In the end I forgive you, but I am seriously glad you passively aggressively fired me, twisted & because I will never have to see NEED help your stupid ~~face~~ face again. I was Now!! only waiting to quit until I found another client, which I was actively searching for anyway.

I always get by... with a little help from my friends (sorry, true, but I am listening to the Beatles)

